

Welcome to the CLOCKSS Community

Thank you for choosing to become a CLOCKSS Supporting Library.

By joining CLOCKSS, you're becoming part of a global community of libraries and publishers working together to ensure that scholarly knowledge remains accessible for generations to come. Your participation strengthens a trusted, community-governed archive that protects the scholarly record against loss, technological change, and organizational failure.

This short form helps us welcome you to the community, and ensures we have the right information to support your participation. It should take around two minutes to complete.

We're delighted to have you with us.

Section 1: About your organization

- Institution name
- Library website

Section 2: Your contacts

Different aspects of CLOCKSS participation can involve different colleagues in an institution. Please provide whichever contacts are appropriate. If one person fulfils multiple roles, that's absolutely fine.
